ERIN HILL
Women Working in Hollywood Production

Media historian, author, and SMC film studies professor Erin Hill—who worked in film development and also teaches at UCLA and the New York Film Academy—will trace the long history of generations of women who worked behind the scenes in the film industry, challenging their characterization as menial workers, and showing how their labor was essential to the industry. Sponsored by the SMC Communication & Media Studies Department.

Tue, March 7 | 11:15am | Free | Art 214

LEEZEL TANGLAO
How to Succeed in Journalism in the Digital Age

CNNMoney digital war room’s Assistant Managing Editor for Programming Leezel Tanglao also oversees the content presentation for numerous premium businesses and the MoneyStream app across desktop, mobile, and emerging platforms. She will discuss the challenges and opportunities facing journalists in today’s digital world. Sponsored by the SMC Associates and SMC Communication & Media Studies Department.

Thu, March 30 | 11:15am | Free | HSS 165

LOVE THY NATURE
Film Screening & Discussion with Filmmakers

Join EMMY-nominated, award-winning filmmaker Sylvie Rokab and Associate Producer Sheila Laffey for a screening of Love Thy Nature, narrated by Liam Neeson. This cinematic journey through the beauty and intimacy of our vital relationship with the natural world shows that a renewed connection with nature is key to our well-being and to solving our climate and environmental crises. SMC Adjunct Film Professor Dr. Laffey hosts a Q&A after the screening. Sponsored by the SMC Communication & Media Department, SMC Center for Environmental and Urban Studies (CEUS), and Associated Students of SMC. Seating is strictly on a first-arrival basis.

Tue, April 25 | 4pm | Free | HSS 165

BART BARTHOLOMEW
Documenting the Los Angeles Riots 25 Years Ago

Award-winning photojournalist Bart Bartholomew—who currently shoots photos for The J. Paul Getty Trust, The Simon Wiesenthal Center and Museum of Tolerance, and numerous other organizations—has covered fast-breaking news in 50 countries for such publications as Time, Newsweek, US News, and The New York Times. He will talk about the day he shot the memorable photos at Florence & Normandie of the riots that erupted April 29, 1992, after the Rodney King verdict. Sponsored by the SMC Communication & Media Studies Department.

Thu, April 27 | 11:15am | Free | HSS 165

BARRY KIBRICK
Between the Lines

Producer, and writer Barry Kibrick—who was awarded three of his five LA EMMYs as the host and creator of the nationally distributed show “Between the Lines with Barry Kibrick”—will offer inspiration based on solid realities as he talks about his background in TV and radio, and how, even under even the most precarious of circumstances, a mixture of perseverance, patience, and learning how to react and adapt to unforeseen circumstances can help anyone build a career. Sponsored by the SMC Associates and SMC Communication & Media Studies Department.

Tue, May 16 | 11:15am | Free | HSS 165
