EXPERIENTIAL DESIGN, DRIVEN BY MUSIC AND SOUND

Dr. Jason Heath

Come be inspired by a truly interdisciplinary approach to crafting unique immersive and interactive experiences. Dr. Jason Heath, founder and CEO of Heath Interactive, will talk about recent work with collaborators from architects to game developers, sculptors, and fabric artists, to create projects that include an interactive musical playground for children on the autism spectrum, and a large fabric interface controlling over 3,000 LEDs, musical sounds, and tactile vibrations at the new Cayton Children's Museum in Santa Monica.

Presentation includes interactive demonstrations and working prototypes integrating sensors, light, sound, and musical experiences.

Thu, March 19 | 11:15 a.m. | Free | Stromberg Hall (HSS 165)
